Freddie King was born in Gilmer, Texas in 1934, a little town in the North East corner of the state. His mother was an accomplished musician who encouraged her son to play guitar. He was a passable picker by the age of 6! In 1960 he garnered his first national hit, "Hideaway." Follow up hits include "Sen-Sa-Shun", "King-A-Ling", "My Feeling For The Blues", "Have You Ever Loved A Woman", "I'm Tore Down", "You've Got To Love Her With A Feeling" and more. He has influenced countless guitarists, including Stevie Ray Vaughan, Eric Clapton, Albert Collins, you name it. He died in 1976 in a Dallas hospital. Just 42 years old, his imprint far outweighs the short time he spent on this earth.
